

Vitrition Case Study

Ensuring Cosmetic Compliance and Market Readiness

Client: Vitrition

Industry: Cosmetics and Personal Care

Project Focus: Cosmetic Product Safety Reports (CPSRs) and Regulatory Compliance

The Challenge

As Vitrition prepared to place cosmetic products on the market, the business required regulatory support to ensure compliance with applicable cosmetic legislation and safety requirements.

The company needed robust Cosmetic Product Safety Reports (CPSRs), guidance on regulatory obligations, and support in navigating the compliance requirements necessary for legal market access.

Without the appropriate safety assessments and regulatory documentation, products could not be confidently placed on the market and would face potential compliance risks during commercialisation.

Olalla Consulting's role

Olalla Consulting provided regulatory and safety assessment support to help Vitrition achieve compliance and prepare products for market launch.

Key activities included:

- Preparation of Cosmetic Product Safety Reports (CPSRs)
- Review of formulations and ingredient compliance
- Regulatory guidance for cosmetic products
- Assessment of supporting technical documentation
- Advice on compliance with applicable UK and EU cosmetic regulations
- Ongoing regulatory support to address product-specific questions and compliance requirements

Results

Before	After
Regulatory requirements required clarification	Clear compliance pathway established
Safety documentation not finalised	CPSRs completed and available
Risk of delays to product launch	Products progressed towards market readiness
Limited internal regulatory resource	Access to specialist cosmetic regulatory expertise
Compliance questions unresolved	Ongoing professional regulatory support provided

Business Impact

- Increased confidence in product compliance
- Strengthened regulatory documentation
- Reduced risk associated with cosmetic market entry
- Improved readiness for commercial launch
- Established an ongoing relationship for future regulatory support

Client Testimonial

"Working with Olalla Consulting provided us with the regulatory expertise needed to navigate cosmetic compliance requirements confidently. The support received throughout the CPSR process and regulatory review helped us prepare our products for market and gave us confidence that our documentation met the required standards."
